I WALK DOWN ANOTHER STREET

Autobiography in five short chapters (by Portia Nelson)

I
I walk down the street
There is a deep hole in the sidewalk.
I fall in.
I am lost...I am helpless.
It isn't my fault.
It takes me forever to find a way out.

II
I walk down the same street.
There is a deep hole in the sidewalk.
I pretend I don't see it.
I fall in again.
I can't believe I am in the same place
But, it isn't my fault
It still takes a long time to get out.

III
I walk down the same street.
There is a deep hole in the sidewalk.
I see it is there.
I still fall in...it's a habit.
My eyes are open

I know where I am.
It is my fault.
I get out immediately.

IV
I walk down the same street.
There is a deep hole in the sidewalk.
I walk around it.

I walk down another street.

Those who have read Matthew Kelly's new book "Life is Messy," (there may still be some free copies in the back of church), remember this introspective poem. Kelly himself says this book is all about finding that other street to walk down. I find the poem to be especially timely.

First of all, we are at the beginning of a new year and many of us have already come up with New Year's Resolutions. Some of us will start thinking about those resolutions right after today's football games. Either way, it is a good time for us to ponder whether we are on the right street, especially when it comes to our faith. When we look at this poem from a spiritual perspective, we can look at the deep hole as sin. Most of us can relate to chapter III: our eyes are open, we see the sin, we know where we're at, but we fall in anyway. It's a habit. It's daring the devil.

The second reason this poem is timely is that we will be holding a special prayer/anointing service at St. Joe's on Thursday January 13th. The idea behind the service sprang from the leadership of our parish Knights of Columbus who observed some of the illness and hurt within the K-C family, and realized that it is likely the same across the parish. It's important to note that this service will be for all who are hurting - all who are in a deep hole of some sort. That could be from post-holiday blues, to a recent loss of a family member, to financial hardships, to those seriously ill or afflicted. Anointing will be limited to the latter, but the prayers will be for all who are hurting. (More on this next week. Until then, watch your step.)

Secular Franciscans

Do you feel drawn to the spirituality of St. Francis or St. Clare? Do you want to be a better Catholic? Draw nearer to God? Become more Christ-like? Then you may have a vocation to the Secular Franciscan Order. We are an association of men and women - married and singles - who live and work in the world. We follow a way of life that is faithful to the original Rule and make promises to live in the way of St. Francis. Admission to the order is open to men and women, single or married, those not already members of another order, and at least 18 years of age. The Secular Franciscan Order was established by St. Francis of Assisi more than 800 years ago. Our purpose is to bring the Gospel to life where we live and where we work. We look for ways to embrace the Gospel in our lives and try to help others to do likewise.

If you feel called to explore this way of life, please contact Michelle Bryk, OFS, 616-361-8489, michellebofs@gmail.com.
