Reflection on Life in a Parish

My parish is composed of people like me.

I help make it what it is.

It will be friendly, if I am.

It will be holy, if I am.

Its pews will be filled, if I help fill them.

It will do great work, if I work.

It will be prayer-ful

It will make generous gifts to many causes if I am a generous giver.

It will bring others into worship, if I invite and bring them.

It will be a parish of loyalty and love, of fearlessness and faith, of compassion, charity, and mercy, if I, who make it what it is, am filled with these same things.

Therefore, with the help of God, I now dedicate myself to the task of being all things that I want my parish to be.

WE ARE ALL EVANGELIZERS

(and whatever else is on Deacon Eric's mind)

Letting the Smart Guys Talk

Okay I hear you. I will let a couple smart guys speak today. On the menu today is some food for thought from St. Thomas Aquinas and Michelangelo.

Aquinas is considered by many scholars to be the greatest Catholic thinker of all time. He had a great scientific mind and delved deeply into philosophy as well as theology. He was a great proponent of the philosophy that faith and reason were compatible. In other words, science and faith can co-exist - they don't have to be mutually exclusive as many secular philosophers claimed. Scientists actually can be Christians. His 13th century work Summa Theological is still studied today. So, let's hear something this smart Catholic guy has to say:

The world tempts us either by attaching us to it in prosperity, or by filling us with fear of adversity. But faith overcomes this, in that we believe in a life to come better than this one, and hence, we despise the riches of this world and we are not terrified in the face of adversity.

Let's take a look at Aquinas' first sentence in light of my homily last week pointing out the dangers of pride and the reward of humility.

When life is going good for us, it's easy to fall into the "pleasures trap." We seek a bigger house, a more expensive car, more toys - just more stuff. Our pride swells and we neglect God. Prosperity is not bad in itself, as we've said before, but if it turns us away from our faith, then it becomes a problem, jeopardizing eternal life with the Lord.

On the other side of that coin, Aquinas says our world also fills us with a fear of adversity. Television news is a great example of that - concentrating on negative news and creating fear. During commercial breaks, we are then sold all kinds of anxiety cures. However, Aquinas says keeping the faith overcomes secular lures and fears, as long as we hold on to our "belief in a life to come, better than this one." He didn't use the phrase, yet in his own words, he is encouraging us to "keep our eyes on the prize" --- heaven.

Smart guy number two is Michelangelo. He was best known as a sculptor and painter, but was also a poet. Among his great poetic thoughts was this:

Sweet is the hope in a pure heart. It does not fail when the flesh ages, or the last hour comes.

I enjoy writing about hope because of the great need for it in our society. I couldn't help but sneak it in the "Smart Guy" column, even though I'm running out of space. This saying reminds me of Jesus and the little children and his call for all of us to have the hearts of children who have unlimited hope in their pure hearts.

Planning will begin for our next major event—the October 1st Ladies Day Retreat. We will end the evening with snacks and sharing. Come and see how much fun we have planning events, sharing our faith, and building our relationships. Please call Mary Beth at (989) 227-0088 if you have any questions.

Attention High School Students

(9-12th grade)

The Youth Program is going to have a new look this year and we are really excited to have the students back!!

This new program is going to be more faith formation based. We will be holding meetings weekly on Wednesday nights from 7:15 to about 8:30. We will still be doing some fun events in addition to the new curriculum plan.

To help with planning, I have created a sign up form link posted below along with a QR code. This registration link will help me to plan for how many students will be attending on Wednesday nights and it will also help to figure how many adult volunteers are needed to assist with small groups. Stay tuned for more information. A tentative schedule will be available soon.

I look forward to meeting everyone soon!

God Bless, Chris

Project Rosie

Looking at the data of ages and abortion, the research shows that young adult college age women are most likely to have an abortion. In addition, they are often in situations where they tell no one and are alone in their pain.

Project Rosie is a new project of Students for Life of Michigan.

Project Rosie:

Women are strong, courageous, and intelligent. They should never be forced to choose between finishing their education and being a parent. Every woman can do both! We believe women are empowered to make positive life decisions when they are equipped with the resources and support they need.

Most students are completely unaware of pregnancy and parenting resources on campus and in the community. Too many women face an unplanned pregnancy without the support system and resources they need.

Project Rosie seeks to fill this gap by providing women with the emotional and physical support they need from resources both on and off campus. Whether they need medical resources, a community of student parents, housing, counseling, material support, or post-abortion counseling, Project Rosie is the bridge to the resources they need. We are here for women on campus, no matter what their need may be.

Project Rosie was born out of the desire to reach, empower, and support pregnant women on Michigan's college campuses so they find a community of support and the resources they need to be successful.

Check out the list of Michigan colleges with resources listed on their website <https://www.projectrosie.com>
