WE ARE ALL EVANGELIZERS
(AND WHATEVER ELSE IS ON DEACON ERIC'S MIND)

Psst, Pass It On

"Just as it is greater to illuminate something than merely to shine, so it is greater to pass on to others what we have contemplated than just to contemplate." – St. Thomas Aquinas

Aquinas, recognized as one of the greatest, if not "the" greatest, minds in Catholic thought, is telling us that we have an obligation to share our contemplative thoughts in the hopes of stimulating greater thoughts or discussion. That's part of what I like about the Average Joes men's group here at St. Joes. Someone in the group reads something of great interest and contemplates its relevance to his own life and shares his conclusion.

Then he tosses it out for others to ponder and, in Aquinas' words "illuminates it," which leads to discussion and greater understanding. I haven't noticed any budding Aquinases in the group (although we do have a couple Thomases") but we do regularly share what we've been thinking.

I believe that it's important for those of us who have had great life experiences and who have spent time contemplating great questions such as "What does God want me to do with my life?" to share our conclusions. The same applies (to a lesser degree) smaller questions as "Should I go with the white, eggshell or off-white paint for the upstairs bathroom?" In the most recent (October) issue of "Faith" magazine, writer Pete Burak points out that his Grandma was great at sharing: "Until her death a few years ago, Grandma always included ice cream treats, games at her table...and stories about recent adventures, past experiences and commentaries on life."

Burak, vice-president of faith-based Renewal Ministries, describes in his article the value of older generations sharing their contemplative thoughts and experiences with younger generations and that often takes place while playing a simple game of cards. There are many grumblings about current American culture and, as Burak points out, that a culture can be best understood by what "they celebrate and what they tolerate. What does a group of people value and not value?" he says.

Strong families and societies "understand, celebrate and pass on beginnings" and likewise show respect and honor things when they end. Part of the futility many of us feel about American culture is that it tolerates disruptions to the beginning and endings of life. Our culture does not celebrate as a whole, our elderly, and now euthanasia is now in ten states. Our society also tolerates abortion - legal in more than 20 states. Before our culture will change, we need contemplation and a change of heart.

So let's take a longer look at the important issues in society. Let's contemplate what the future will be for future generations if we keep squeezing the most vulnerable out of our society. Let's share our Catholic contemplation with the world, so that we do not squeeze the Grandma Buraks out of this world. Let's illuminate and share the Good News of Jesus Christ with our lost sheep.

Piety for the Dead in Catholic Tradition
Thursday, October 23, 2025
6:30 p.m. in the Church Basement

For Catholics, the Church is not only those of us who happen to be alive and walking around--it also includes the generations who have gone before us! From time immemorial, piety for the dead has been an integral aspect of Catholic spirituality, a means whereby we connect with our past and aid the departed souls with our prayers.

In this talk, Catholic history author Phillip Campbell will do a deep dive into the history, customs, and spirituality behind the Church's piety for the dead and leave you with a greater appreciation for the Church's tradition.
